

Rachel Feldman

Mezzo-soprano

Raised in Cheshire, Connecticut, RACHEL FELDMAN, is pursuing her Master of Music in Choral Conducting at Westminster Choir College. She began her musical training at the age of 9 with the Elm City Girls' Choir in New Haven. Ms. Feldman holds a Bachelor of Arts in Music with a voice concentration from the University of Connecticut. At UConn, Ms. Feldman studied conducting with Dr. Jamie Spillane and voice with Meredith Ziegler. She currently studies conducting with Dr. Joe Miller and voice with Margaret Cusack. Ms. Feldman is the graduate assistant conductor of the Westminster Choir and assists in preparing the choir for its performances. During the 2018-2019 season, this included tours throughout China and Texas, the 2019 national ACDA conference and the upcoming Spoleto Festival USA. As a mezzo soprano, Ms. Feldman sings with Westminster Choir, Westminster Symphonic Choir, Westminster Kantorei and the Philadelphia Symphonic Choir. She also conducts the choir at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church in Princeton.