

Lewis Wasden

Boy Soprano

LEWIS WASDEN is a boy soprano who sings with the Princeton Boy Choir and previously sang with the Apprentice Choir of the American Boy Choir. He recently originated the role of William Frankenstein in a newly commissioned opera by Gregg Kallor with the Arizona Opera Company. Lewis can be heard on recordings for the early childhood music program Music Together. He also performs with the Hopewell Valley Children's Theater. Lewis is a 7th grader and enjoys drums, piano, theater, singing, composing, reading, and hiking.