

Lewis Wasden

Boy Soprano

LEWIS WAsDEN is a boy soprano who sings with the Princeton Boy Choir and previously sang with the Apprentice Choir of the American Boy Choir. He originated the role of William Frankenstein in a newly commissioned opera by Gregg Kallor with the Arizona Opera Company. Lewis performed the role of Harry in Britten's opera, Albert Herring, with the Princeton Festival last summer. Lewis can be heard on recordings for the early childhood music program, Music Together. He also performs with the Hopewell Valley Children's Theater. Lewis is an 8th grader and enjoys drums, piano, theater, singing, composing, reading, and skiing.