

Brandon Tyler Jaico

Bass-baritone

New Jersey native bass-baritone, BRANDON JAICO has been seen on stages from the East Coast, the Midwest, and the West Coast—where he has performed a wide variety of repertoire ranging from Purcell to Bellini. His recent engagements include Don Alfonso, from Mozart’s Così fan tutte, as well as the role of Sage in the world premiere of Ellen Fishman’s Marie Begins—one of the world’s first “operatives” (interactive opera). He is currently on the music staff at St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church in Lambertville, NJ and recently accepted a position on the roster of the Allentown Symphony Chorus. He is excited to sing his first Fauré Réquiem with the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs.
