

Zoe Beaton

Soprano

ZOE BEATON is a current student at Westminster Choir College majoring in Music Education and studying voice as her primary instrument. Her involvement and dedication to music, beginning in elementary school music class, her love of choir evolved into a deep and prominent passion as she, along with her musicianship, matured. She believes that her interest in Music Education stems from growing up in the chorally rich state of Florida, in which her musicianship and artistry was developed and encouraged. Now as she enters her Junior year of formal education, she is focused on preparation for graduate school in which she plans to achieve a masters in Choral Conducting. Zoe will spend this academic school year gathering valuable music experiences performing as a Choral Scholar at St. Dominics and participating in a choral apprenticeship as a Conducting Fellow for Westrick Music Academy.
