

Michael Bradford

Baritone

MICHAEL BRADFORD received the Bachelor of Music Education from Baylor University and the Master of Music in Choral Conducting from The University of North Texas. He also holds a Master of Business Administration from Colorado State University.

Michael studied voice at Baylor University with Professor Jack Coldiron, in addition to an exchange semester with baritone Horst Günter. Michael has performed with multiple prestigious choral music organizations, including The University of North Texas A Cappella Choir, Seraphic Fire, and Kantorei of Denver CO, and Princeton Pro Musica. He is frequently featured as a soloist, notably with Seraphic Fire (2005 Jewish Sacred Music) and Kantorei (2019 ACDA National Convention).

Michael has also served as Music/Worship director across multiple church congregations. He previously worked in the public schools as a music educator for several years before transitioning to a career in the biopharmaceutical industry. In his business career he has held multiple roles across sales, training, and marketing. He currently resides in New Hope, PA with his wife Jennifer and their three boys.